

Mad Lib Holiday Cookie Competition

_____ (noun, person 1) and _____ (noun, person 2)
were excited to enter the annual Holiday Cookie Competition in _____ (noun, place 1). " _____ (exclamation) it's time to _____ (verb). Today is the day of the Cookie Competition!" said _____ (noun, person 1). _____ (noun, person 2) started to _____ (verb), and was ready to start baking. It was
_____ 's (noun, person 1) choice to bake in the _____ (noun, place), but _____ (noun, person 2) loves to bake in the _____ (noun, place). When they began to bake, they added their signature ingredient _____ (noun, thing), that they were sure the judges would feel _____ (adjective, emotion) about.
Then, they were ready to _____ (verb) to the competition
in _____ (noun, place).
When they got to _____ (noun, place 1), they noticed that all of their competitors cookies were _____ (adjective). _____
(noun, person 1) know that it would be a _____ (adjective) competition to win. Finally, the judges _____ (adverb) ate all of the cookies and were ready to make a decision on the winner. In the end, _____ (noun, person 1) and _____ (noun, person 2)
had the best cookies of them all! They won first price with a _____ (noun, thing) trophy. They celebrated by eating the rest of their cookies with a glass of _____ (noun, thing).